Officers 'Out on a Limb' Are Airlifted by Marines

KOREA—When Capt. Frank Presley and Lt. Don Hovick were marooned on the roof of a three-story building in Korea, the marine corps came to the rescue with a helicopter.

The two officers were assigned the task of fixing a signal light in the roof of the headquarters building.

They clambered to the roof of the three-story building through the ragged hole. Then, when the job was done, it was discovered that there wasn't a ladder in the area tall enough to reach their perch. They were targets for enemy snipers while stranded there.

An airlift was ordered by the commanding officer and the helicopter went to the rescue.

Parents Are Urged to Let Children See Dentist Alone

ATLANTA, Ga. — Two Atlanta dentists with parents would leave their children alone when they have teeth worked on. They believe it would be better for all concerned if parents do not accompany their children into the dentist's operating room while the children are receiving treatment.

Say Drs. Frank L. Lamons and Mary L. Morgan:

"Departure of the parent from the scene brings miraculous results in every instance of behavior difficulty." And even though there's no apparent trouble brewing, "the dentist's relationship with the child and the parent will be a happier one."

Those paroled and returned to society with the stigma of a prison record did not have as much success. The report for rehabilitation of parolees was 74 per cent.

Cost of supervision of men on parole and probation is $77 a year, compared with an approximate cost of $700 to keep a man in prison.

Church Under Fire

Lesson for June 24, 1951

ABOUT two thousand Christian missionaries have been forced to leave China during 1950 and 1951. In more than one country "freedom of religion" has meant, in practice, freedom to ridicule and hinder religion.

In Spain, Protestants are forbidden to use the name "church," to meet in any building on a main thoroughfare, or to worship in buildings that in any way resemble a church. In Colombia, churches have been burned by mobs without the slightest interference from the police. All this is bad; but it is nothing new.

When Christian Meant Criminal At the time the Christian religion began, it came under fire from the authorities of Jerusalem. It was to be expected that the same men who had condemned, cast out and crucified Jesus would try to stamp out his followers as well.

But one of the leading men of Jerusalem said, in effect: "If this new cause is God's cause, then it is our use in our fighting it." It was God's cause, and so the opposition at Jerusalem not only did not stop or destroy the church but actually succeeded in spreading it.

As the new Christian religion then moved out into all parts of the Roman Empire, at first the imperial and local authorities paid it no attention; and in fact for some years it enjoyed the protection of the government.

But when it came out that Christianity was a new religion, and especially when it became clear that the Christians acknowledged only the Lord, and would not worship the Emperor, the Roman government began a long series of persecutions which lasted for close to three hundred years.

Inspiration Behind Bars FIVE letters of Paul, including II Timothy, were written from Roman jails, and reliable tradition tells us that Paul was finally beheaded just because he was a Christian.

If you will look on a map of the Roman Empire for the places mentioned at the beginning of I Peter, you can see how widespread was the "trial trial" which the readers of that letter were then suffering. As for the book of Revelation, the writer was, he says, "on the Isle of Patmos for the word of God and the testimony of Jesus Christ."

Patmos Island was no rest-house for tired missionaries; it was not a missionary field either. It was a barren island, a Christian camp, where many Christian missionaries, on being arrested, were sent after their trial and sentence, to work at forced labor in the mines there.

If the scenes of that book often flow with blood and blaze with fire, it is not because the writer had a vivid imagination. He might have seen with his own eyes Christians, men, women and even children, with their heads chopped off by the public executioner, or dying amid the flames at the stake. Those were terrible times, and it took courage to be a Christian at all.

THE message of the New Testament is never optimistic, but always hope. That is to say, no one in the New Testament, from Jesus in Galilee to John on Patmos, holds out any promise or picture of smooth and easy going for the Christian church.

It will have trouble, and the more faithful it is to Christ the more trouble it is likely to meet. But in the long run, Christ's true church (which means simply all those who are true to Christ) will conquer all her enemies, for the reason that it is Christ's church and not ours alone.

It has recently been reported that the Russian government has thought up a smart idea. They find that the more religion is persecuted, the more stubbornly vigorous it grows. So the government has given its persecuting religion, and proposes to let it "die on the vine."

That may work; if Christians have too easy a time, the church will attract only the lazy and the comfort-loving—which will kill off the church. But the vine will not die, if only every branch is close joined to Christ, the ever-living Vine of God.

Wood Products Are Good Income Source In Coffee County

(By Robert Smith)

Have you ever marveled at the tremendous amount of young timber growth we have in Coffee County? Have you ever wondered how we compare with other counties in production of all wood products?

Of the 432,280 land acres in the county, 201,700 acres or 46.5 per cent, is forest land. All of this land is not covered by young timber either.

Coffee County ranks 32nd in the 67 counties of the state in production of pine timber. Only 12 counties exceed us in hardwood lumber, 36 in pulpwood, 23 in cross ties and 24 in poles and pilings.

We can not expect to be on top in production of forest products because some counties are almost 100 per cent in trees. It is felt that we can improve our standing.

Man Invents Pinless Diaper, Saves Wear on Wife, Baby
KENOSHA, Wis.—A man has invented the improved baby diaper. The inventor, Willis C. Burke, got tired of seeing his wife and baby plagued by diaper pins. So he invented a diaper that fastens itself.

The secret is a series of metal snap fasteners arranged to fit any baby's size. The United States patent office granted Burke a patent because no one had thought of the gimmick before.

The idea has netted Burke well over $30,000 in two years, and his pinless diapers are being sold as a Chicago factory can make them.

Appalled at the number of casualties suffered by U.S. invasion forces between the time the men left their homes and reached Europe, Burke invented an amphibious vessel that climbs up the beach until it reaches the water. Burke gave the vessel the government which reports complete success with its use.

The vehicle is now in production.

Old Movie Player Says Tom Mix Was Best Cowboy Star

HOLLYWOOD, Calif.—Bob Kortman, a veteran of 40 years in westerns, says Tom Mix was the greatest cowboy of them all.

Kortman, who has tossed a lasso with just about every big time western star in 750 western movies over four decades, will tell you that none of the other great western heroes had to be taught how to get on a horse.

"Mix was the biggest showman ever to hit Hollywood," he said. "He lived his part 24 hours a day. He drove a hot convertible with his name all over it and steered on the radiator cap. He wore red clothes and carried about 30 cowboy hats on his roll all the time."

There was a saying that Mix's hat could never blow off and hit the ground. Some say man would have to be a genius to do that.

Host Gibson and Art Acord are next to Mix by Kortman. Round out the top five are Buck Jones and Hopalong (Bill) Boyd Cassidy.

But Buck Jones was the best natural cowhand of 'em all," he said. "But Mix was a greater showman by far."

As for the famous Bill Hart, he said, "Hart was a great showman, but he never made much money."

Timothy's range riding favorites are the famous cowboys, Kortman is hitting on all cylinders. He says, "All they have to do is yodel or croon or strum a guitar," he said.

He never did a real cowboy hand strum a guitar, and if they sang they did it in a bar over a shot of hooch.

A cowboy today, naturally, drinks nothing stronger than sarsaparilla.

Crissiere Industry Faces Brains Over Copper Order
WASHINGTON, D. C.—The government's recent copper order, banning the use of copper in maps and book covers, has raised a vital question in the brassiere industry.

"We can substitute anything else for garter fasteners," an industry spokesman complained, "but what are we going to do about fasteners for brassieres and corsets?"

He explained that manufacturers had been trying to make arrangements for steel as a substitute, but hadn't been able to find a source of supply. The problem could become critical.

128-Year-Old Ranch Hand Recalls Civil War Battle
BROWNSVILLE, Tex.—"Pancho" Comala is a simple dealer. He wants to live a few more years. He is 128 years old.

"Socorro my name is Francisco Comala, and I am 128 years old," he told a census taker who visited him at his home, the Comala ranch, near the mouth of the Rio Grande river.

Pancho told of crossing the Rio Grande with an older brother. They were orphaned and Pancho was only seven at the time.

"The brother went to work on Valentin Gavito's ranch and Pancho as a slave to do chores about the house. He grew up there and married."

After his wife and their first born died at the birth of the child, Pancho went to live with a sister who lived about 10 years ago, at the age of 125.

He told his own pony until a few years ago when he fell and broke his hip. He still has a good appetite and likes to display his full set of teeth.

Most of all he likes to talk about the things he has seen and experienced, including the Civil War battle fought near his home during the Confederacy had surrendered.

He got to view the skirmish between the "Americans" because poor communications didn't bring word the surrender in time to stop it. He was 45 at the time.

The secret is a series of metal snap fasteners arranged to fit any baby's size. The United States patent office granted Burke a patent because no one had thought of the gimmick before.

The idea has netted Burke well over $30,000 in two years, and his pinless diapers are being sold as a Chicago factory can make them.

Appalled at the number of casualties suffered by U.S. invasion forces between the time the men left their homes and reached Europe, Burke invented an amphibious vessel that climbs up the beach until it reaches the water. Burke gave the vessel the government which reports complete success with its use.

The vehicle is now in production.

Cat...

In an off-the-record remark Gray said these canned dog and cat foods aren't worth a "cat."

He cautioned American manufacturers against trying to invade the European market with their product. "Just give me fish or crabs off the table," he said.

Talking about his advanced age, the cat said he didn't know how to compare a feline's age with a human's. It is multiplied either by 5, 7 or 10 so that would make him 75, 91 or 130 depending on how you want to figure it.

Age doesn't bother him even though he has only six teeth and is getting a little hard of hearing. Counting all his narrow escapes during the war and after, he says he has only used up four of the nine lives he is entitled to.

Which every cat is entitled to. Gray said he is agile enough for a cat his size and with all the modern drugs available in America to fight diseases, he thinks the twilight of his life will be long and enjoyable.

Windbag...
In this world, this sure would be a good word. In 1928 one of Uncle Archie's boys was convicted of a crime in Florida and was sentenced to die in the electric chair. Uncle Archie states, "All I did was pray day and night and walk in the electric chair. My boy was living for your Master. He could assist me with my troubles. I went to see the late Lawyer Will Brannon of Elba and he told him my troubles. Lawyer Brannon seemed to feel my need of assistance and told me he would go to the Governor of Florida and plead for my boy. Lawyer Brannon got my boy's sentence changed to life in prison. I know then my prayers had been answered so right to serve the Lord."

Uncle Archie's boy, after serving seven years in the Florida state pen suffered a stroke and paralysis. Uncle Archie went to the Governor of Florida and begged that his son be released.

Visiting

Dr. & Mrs. John R. Crook are spending a week with their parents, Dr. & Mrs. W. R. Crook, from prison, since he was only a dead expense on the government and has become a good citizen. The governor granted his wish and the boy was paroled.

"I tried to raise my boy right," laments Uncle Archie, "but after he left home he got in the wrong crowd and went astray. My boy is now living for Christ and has become a good citizen. Again my prayers have been answered."

And then came the worst trouble of all for Uncle Archie. In 1942 he lost his eyesight and is now totally blind. Uncle Archie says, "The Lord has been good to me to let me live so long. I am blind and live in total darkness. I can see the bright side of life and appreciate all my Lord has done for me. When you are living for your Master, these earthly things don't matter."

GABLE IS BOOED, BUT IT'S IN THE SCRIPT!
Popular Clark Gable recently underwent the usual experience of being roundly booed by his cameramen during filming of "To Please a Lady," the exciting romantic drama in which he co-stars with Barbara Stanwyck on the Elba Screen.

But it was all part of the script. In the new M-G-M offering Gable enacts the nation's driving danger, whose ruthless competitors are the lives of his cameramen. One scene called for him to step from his rickety car just after having caused another driver to crash to his death.

"It's hard to boo a guy like Gable even though you don't mean it," he said. "I make my boy a small one!"

EAGER BEAVER FISH
Fish were reported hungry on the Choctawhatchee River in Florida this weekend according to Tommy Thompson, co-owner of Lindsey-Thompson Furniture Co. It seems Tommy was out in a skiff, by himself, of course, and was putting a hook on the end of his line. Part of his pole was sticking in the water. When something kept moving the pole, Tommy vowed he pulled the pole out of the water and a fish was biting on a piece of fish wrapped around the end of the pole. This particular member of the finny tribe was either so mad or so hungry that he allowed himself to be pulled clear of the water and aimed into the boat before releasing his grip on the tape.
